Visions of Modern Cuba

Dr. Tiffany A. Sippial

Have you ever wondered why the United States and Cuba have such a complicated relationship?

The Honors College is offering a NEW SEMINAR that will trace the principal economic, social, and political transformations in Cuba from the beginnings of independence fervor in the 1860s to the present. We will consider a variety of topics including slavery and abolition, the wars of independence, U.S. intervention, tourism, the Cuban revolution, the role of the Soviet Union, and the “Special Period,” among others.

Dr. Tiffany A. Sippial is Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies in the Department of History. She has over twenty years of research and travel experience in Cuba, including one year as a Fulbright-Hays scholar. The author of an award-winning book on Cuban history, Dr. Sippial also leads the AU Honors Study and Travel to Cuba Travel trip each May.*
